

HIGHLIGHTS OF LONG RANGE FORECAST

Valid from December 2025 to February 2026

Issued on November 2025

During November 2025, below normal conditions was expected over most of the northern Morocco, north-west of Algeria, western Liberia, Cameroon, much of Guinea Equatorial, Gabon, central and southern DRC, most southern of Eastern Africa, west and south-east of Angola southern of South Africa, south-western Madagascar. Above average precipitation was observed over north-east of Algeria, southern of Guinea Gulf Countries, central parts of Central Africa region, most parts of the SADC region and Madagascar.

The outlooks for the rainfall season during the December 2025 to February 2025 period is that is expected to observed Below normal to normal to below average over northern Morocco, Algeria, southern Kenya, Angola, northern parts of Namibia, much of Tanzania, south of Madagascar and much of the Comoros Island.

Season of December 2025 to February 2026, Above average and normal to above precipitation is expected over southern Liberia, Cote d'Ivoire, Ghana, much of Gabon, Congo, DRC, Rwanda, Burundi, south-western Uganda, western Tanzania, most parts of central and eastern parts of Southern Africa, northern Madagascar and Indian Ocean Island.

Near to above and above average temperature is very likely over expected most parts of the Northern Africa, Sahel region, Central Africa, Eastern Africa and western and central of SADC region during the season of December 2025 to February 2026 .